Many of these impacts are already felt at the current level of warming, which is about 1.2 °C (2.2 °F). The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has issued a series of reports that project significant increases in these impacts as warming continues to 1.5 °C (2.7 °F) and beyond. Additional warming also increases the risk of triggering critical thresholds called tipping points.

Chapter 1: The Commodity Section 1. The Two Factors of the Commodity. Marx says a commodity is a use-value and also an exchange-value. He explains that as a use-value the commodity is something that meets a human want or need of any kind, i.e. it is a useful thing. The use-value of the commodity is determined by how useful the commodity is.
