Check the status of the battery in the DJI GO app after powering on the aircraft. Keep an eye out for app alerts during flight. If the DJI GO app displays a warning that battery cells are abnormal or damaged, stop using the battery. Follow the stated temperature for battery use.

Drone Maintenance Checklist - DJI Guides

Run the DJI Pilot App to confirm that all battery cells are at similar voltage levels and stay at the same level when the battery is fully charged. If all cells maintain voltage levels above 3.7V but any cell is 0.2V higher or lower than the others, contact DJI for analysis. You can also check the battery cell warning history.

DJI was founded by Frank Wang, who originally built and sold the flight control components of DJI's first prototypes out of his dorm room in Hong Kong. In 2009, DJI's technology supported the flight of a drone around Mt. Everest's peak. In 2011, Wang and Colin Guinn founded DJI North America to cater towards hobbyists and mass-market drone sales. The first model of DJI's Phantom drone ...
